After our last conversation, I keep noticing that your employees are still not reaching the standard expected of a company with such experience. I keep seeing too many personnel changes and the lack of experience of the staff that you keep sending is evident.

Comentario [g1]: recent

Comentario [g2]: have continued to notice

I have been informed that you sent four different chefs last month, the results were terrible. The waiters do not last much longer either. It has also been confirmed to me that your waiters are only working in your company to be able to get the professional qualification they need to work in other businesses, and will leave us once they have obtained it.

Comentario [g3]: employed

Comentario [g4]: this phrase is not wrong, but perhaps 'I have also found out...' would be more appropriate and natural sounding.

After talking with your human resources department and our quality control department, I understood you did not make the right decisions from the beginning.

Comentario [g5]: Came to the conclusion that

If you would have read the contract statement you would have noticed that recruiting less, but better qualified personnel, it may have been more cost effective for your company and we would not have incurred so many problems.

Comentario [g6]: had

Comentario [g7]: fewer

Comentario [g8]: not necessary

Taking all these reasons in to account it is with regret that I have to inform you I have decided to cancel our actual contract and to put aside your services for the moment.

I hope this decision does not cause a great grievance for you and your company and I hope to be able to work together again in the future.

Yours faithfully,
David Martínez

Excellent. A very good piece of work. Just watch out for false friends like `actual`.
