

This subject is especially relevant. Governments, teachers and citizens are worried about the educational problem.

During the last few years the educational level is lower in Spain than in the former time and it also is lower than on the European countries.

I believe that each political party changes our educational level when they reach to power.

It's necessary to take care with these changes, because the students always are the same and in this case, if we change our system every four years, it will be impossible to have stability in our educational system.

From my point of view, political parties have to meet and reach an educational agreement and it will be compulsory to keep this system for many years (ten, for example). After that, the government should carry out the effective reforms and to maintain the subjects levels of the different courses. Every system needs stability in order to get good results. This subject is easy to check by doing opinion polls, and European surveys.

Finally, I think that the democratic system is good, but there are some topics, such as education, health, and others, that we must maintain independent of the political situation, and citizens and governments must face this situation in order to improve our quality of life.

Comentario: Logra analizar una situación pero no especula tal y como se pide en la pregunta. Esta redacción es demasiado breve como para que pueda demostrar un dominio del lenguaje y una argumentación de nivel 3.

Excepto una oración, puedo entender el desarrollo de las ideas y lo que quiere decir.

Aún así, el párrafo introductorio es demasiado breve. El último es más largo pero la oración es demasiado larga.

Como le indico en un par de notas, creo que debe aprender a dividir las oraciones de forma más efectiva. En el lenguaje hablado utilizamos mucho "and" para encadenar ideas, pero no es lo suficientemente preciso en el lenguaje escrito.

Nota: 2. Necesita controlar aspectos básicos de la gramática para llegar al nivel 3 (no puede faltar un verbo (there are some topics) o un sujeto (it), o escribir un adjetivo en plural.

No olvide especular tal y como se indica en la pregunta. También debe mejorar la precisión del vocabulario.
